

Digging Wells For Hope is a nonprofit organization started in 2010 by Kelly Forsha when she was just 12 years old. She is a normal kid who had an idea that could change the world.

How? Kelly and her team are selling pencils for $1.00 each to raise money to build wells to provide clean water in Haiti. These wells will help families today and for generations to come.

Can I help? You can help by becoming an Ambassador, who is anyone who would like to sell pencils to help raise money.

Businesses can help by sponsoring a Jeans Day. Employees pay $5 to wear jeans on a chosen day, and they get a sticker showing that they are a part of changing the world. We will provide stickers and pencils, if you will do the organizing. For more information, call 717.656.0765 or visit us at www.DiggingWellsForHope.org.

Donations can be mailed to:

Thank you!
